TULE CANTON MINER DIES AT GOLDFIELD

Frank M. Fields, pioneer of the Tule canyon district and well known in southern Nevada, died Monday night in the Association hospital at Goldfield, where he had been since May 12. Death was from a complication of diseases from which Fields, at the age of 75, could not recover. He lived on claims in which he was interested for eight or nine years. These were placer claims in the canyon and in March, 1919, he and Frank Hannu incorporated the Goldfield Tule Canyon Placer Mining company and did considerable work in equipping the claims and drift mining, but the enterprise proved unprofitable and finally work was stopped because of their inability to raise further money. Fields also had interests in quartz mining in the canyon, in the future of which he was a firm believer. He was born in Iowa. The only known relative is his daughter, Mrs. F. J. Joerg, who arrived in Goldfield Tuesday, from her home in Iowa.

LARGE CAPITAL MAY BUILD UP RUSSIAN TRADE

Bolshevik Government Anticipating Great Revival of Foreign Business.

(By Associated Press) MOSCOW, April 28.—(By Mail.)—The bolshevik government anticipates a great revival of foreign trade this summer. These hopes are based upon the presence in Moscow of a number of German, Swedish and other representatives of big capital.

Up to the present time the accomplishments of these capitalists are unknown or incomplete, but there can be no doubt that important negotiations for German participation in the industrial restoration of Russia are under way.

German and Swedish locomotives ordered last year are now arriving in increasing numbers. There are rumors of important conferences with Krupp and other German firms which might lead to reconstruction by the Germans of all Russia's damaged railway rolling stock and repair shops.

Short term credits have been granted by German and Swedish firms for small orders. A number of shipments have been made on the basis of collections at the point of delivery.

"Cash against documents, New York," the terms on which American firms have insisted in doing business with the bolshevik government have been the stumbling blocks to several recent attempts by Americans in Moscow to place orders. The foreign trade commissariat appears to be taking the stand that foreign firms should at least trust the Russians to the extent of sending them goods to be paid for at the point of arrival, while the Americans, perhaps, remembering cancelled orders in the past, want their money before they ship.

Furthermore, so far as these cancelled orders and other previous dealings with Americans are concerned, the soviet government apparently takes the stand that these matters are to be settled with the American government, when a trade agreement is effected and all past differences are ironed out.

They seek to start new business with a clean slate even with the firms which they have cancelled orders in the past and are surprised when such firms refuse them credits or insist on cash down payments. One American recently in Moscow seeking adjustment of an old contract and also new business said their attitude was like that of a private person who considered himself bankrupt, with all old claims wiped off, starting anew.

One of the old contracts, involving about $5,000,000 which the soviets declined to readjust, was that of the Bobroff company of Milwaukee.

In spite of the fact that they realized the support of the National City Bank of New York might be of great value to them, the soviet authorities have declined to permit the representatives of this bank to come to Russia to recover the books of the bank's Petrograd branch which was confiscated in the early days of the bolshevik revolution.

THE GOLDSTEIN SM. THAT MAY WEAR O.

Nat Goldstein, who was dumped out of the Kansas City Post Office because he accepted $2,500 to boost Frank O. Lowden for the Presidency, looks happy in this picture; but did he wear this smile when Republicans and Democrats joined in denouncing him as an unhappy choice when President Harding named him to be Internal Revenue Collector for the St. Louis District?

American troops step lively on the long miles of German roads as they leave Coblenz on their way back to the land of liberty. Soon they will be back with their folks who, maybe, won't be glad to see them.

Shares of Swift & Company are widely distributed. The map shows the number of shareholders in each state and has been dotted to indicate the proportionate distribution.

Who is Swift & Company?

Swift & Company is not a one man or one family affair. It is a company owned by more than 40,000 people scattered over the face of the globe—forty thousand shareholders with voting powers and a share in the risks and profits of the business.

Most of the forty thousand live here in the United States. But some of them live in France, some in England, others in the Philippines, Hawaii, Alaska.

13,000 of them are women.

Nearly 14,000 of them are employees.

The average individual holdings are small—about 37 shares apiece.

No one person or family owns a majority of the stock.

In fact, it would take 900 of the largest shareholders pooled together to vote 51 per cent of the stock!

These shareholders are the men and women whose money, in the form of capital, makes Swift & Company possible.

They are jealous of the character and reputation of their organization, proud of what it is doing, proud to have a part in supplying to the world such products as Swift's Premium Ham and Bacon, Brookfield Sausage, Silverleaf Brand Pure Lard, Wool Soap, Swift & Company's fresh meats, etc.

The executives of Swift & Company maintain the high standards of these products as an imperative duty not only to the 40,000 shareholders, but to the public.
